

BOOK GIVING ASSEMBLY GUIDELINES FOR SCHOOLS 2019

TERM / YEAR: _____

SPONSOR'S REPS: _____

ROLE MODEL: _____

MEDIA REP: _____

OTHER SPECIAL GUESTS: _____

The focus of the Books in Homes Program is that “Reading is Fun!” and that children “Read to Success” so we ask you to capture the essence and spirit of this theme in your upcoming Book Giving Assembly and to captivate all the participants—children, teachers, parents, Sponsors and Role Models alike.

Whether your Book Giving Assembly is a dedicated one, or piggy backs off a normal school assembly, here are some suggestions you can use as a starting point for mapping out your successful blueprint:

- Organise the date and time of your Book Giving Assembly at the beginning of each term, and communicate this information to: support@booksinhomes.com.au so we can organise a Role Model for your school in a timely manner
- Research and liaise with your Role Model and then thematically link their profession to books and reading, especially if your Role Model is an author or illustrator (be sure to check out their published books!)
- Ask your Sponsor’s representatives what their favourite books were when they were kids
- Add a performance aspect to the Book Giving Assembly via music, dance, theatre or other
- Add a cos-play element or parade to your Book Giving Assembly
- Decorate the hall / venue with balloons, posters and more
- Get the children to create their own books from 2 to 8 pages (depending on their age) by writing and illustrating a simple story
- Encourage the children to participate in an illustration competition built around a particular theme (eg. superheroes, mythical creatures) and then get your Mainfreight representative and / or your Role Model to judge the competition
- Create a book theme built around some of the Indigenous Australian and migrant cultures represented in your school (eg. various Indigenous language / nation groups, Pacific Islander, Middle Eastern etc)
- Or any other creative activity.
